CTEC Institute

Institute Information

The Chicagoland Television Educators Council will be holding its CTEC Institute on Monday, January 30, 2012 from 9am to 2pm at Waubonsie Valley High School (see CTEC website for directions—www.ctectv.org). The Institute is for CTEC members and non-members who are involved with the television/media programs at their high schools.

This day will be filled with a variety of informative sessions led by members of CTEC. The morning session is a large group session for our annual "show and tell". In the afternoon, you will have the opportunity to participate in roundtable discussions with other CTEC members. At the end of the day, you will have the opportunity to tour Waubonsie Valley's television facilities.

Session Information:

Morning Session:

Show and Tell: What are you doing in your classes that you would like to share with your colleagues? Bring multiple copies of one of your lesson plans or a project, bring a piece of equipment (or pictures), etc...be ready to share!

Afternoon Sessions:

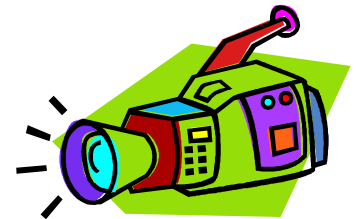

Large Group Session: We will be breaking out into smaller roundtable discussions to discuss curricular issues. You can speak with other broadcast journalism teachers or other production teachers to share what you are doing in your classroom or ask questions of others about what they are doing in their classrooms.

Group Session:

Wrap-Up: We'll wrap up the day and answer any final questions the group has about a topic discussed during the day.

Tour:

Take a tour of Waubonsie Valley's television facilities.
